4. Report from Steering Committee

Gary Kent, Co-convenor and Secretary of the Steering Committee formed to draft the ISCCC Constitution, outlined the processes, initiated by Kevin Gill, leading up to the formation of the Committee. He said that the Steering Committee had met on a number of occasions to prepare the draft Constitution, which was presented for consideration tonight. The next step would be for the Committee to pursue incorporation of the Council under the ACT association's incorporation legislation.

Kevin Gill, Co-convenor of the Steering Committee, emphasized the role of the existing residents associations and that they would have primary carriage of matters occurring within their boundaries, with the support of the Council.

5. Report from Community associations

Margaret Fanning, President, Griffith-Narrabundah Residents Association

John Keeley, Chair, Old Narrabundah Community Association

Robyn Cooper, President, Yarralumla Residents Association.

The respective chairs of the above associations briefly outlined the history and recent achievements of their groups. They advised that their organisations strongly supported the formation of the ISCCC, which would support and enhance local efforts and ensure high level representation to government for residents of the Inner South. The formation of other local residents groups should be encouraged.

6. Formation of the Community Council

In response to a question from Nick Swain about the boundaries of the Council (eg exclusion of Oaks Estate and Jerrabomberra Wetlands), Kevin Gill said that this matter had been discussed at length by the Steering Committee and that a range of options had been considered. The boundaries adopted were considered to be the most practical. There was nothing to stop the Council dealing with matters that arose in adjacent areas and meeting with relevant interest groups.

The Council agreed the following motion (moved Robyn Craig, seconded Greg Cornwell, and incorporating amendments moved from the floor):

That this meeting of Inner South Canberra Residents:
